WOOTEN YORK CHRISTENS HIS AIRFIELD

On December 23rd Wooten York announced that he landed his Quicksilver GT-400 at the airfield at his place near Washington, Georgia. His was the first aircraft to land at his airfield which is still under construction. He wanted to move the Quicksilver from the Washington-Wilkes airport since he could put it under cover until he sells it. He said that the landing was uneventful though he did hit a slight berm on landing and was in the air again for a short time. The airfield is not yet ready for visitors.
